you in the sunshine.

Forever, from the hand that takes One blessing from us, others fail ; An soon or late our Father makes His perfect recompense to all.

He prayeth best who loveth best All things both great and small; For the dear God who loveth us, He made and loveth all.

Had it been an evil thing to suffer wrong, God would not have enjoined it upon us. Know ye not that he is the King of glore and therefore He commands us to suff wrong, and doth all to withdraw us from worldly things and to convince us what is glory, and what shame; what loss, and what HOLMES .- In Montelair, N. J. at the resigain .- Chrysostom.

When angels weep, they weep not at the woe, Which shadows human hearts-not at the gloom, The fading and the sorrow, and the tomb. They weep that man so little love doth know That he has still forgotten to be glad; Sees not the land immortal; but is sad.

Never fail to do daily that good which lies next to your hand. Trust God to weave your little thread into the great web, though the pattern shows it not yet. The grand barvest of the ages shall come to its reading, and the day shall broaden itself to a thousand years, and the thou sand years shall show themselves as a perfect and finish day .- Me Donald.

When we are ill at ease with ourselves. and unhappy in the house of our own he rt, everything takes a complexion from our spirit, mercies cease to delight, friends are no longer friends, nature loses her beauty. our employments their interest; life itself may at last become intolerable and death be sought as a refuge near and immediate from what is already hell. But where peace reigns, sunshine spreads all around. While Judas went, with his silver pieces, to hang himself. He who was being led to the cross, exclaimed, "My peace I leave with you!"
-Norman Macleod.
